▣ Philosophy of MITSUGETSU eight

We aim to provide materials that allow creators to focus on their work.

In recent years, issues regarding rights have been frequently discussed

"Unintentionally infringing on third-party rights"

"Materials sold as assets turned out to be plagiarized works"

"Compliance violations"

The content created by you, the creators, is valuable and remains a "property of the stakeholders" even after its release.

To ensure that you can continue to publish your works with peace of mind, we plan and sell these materials.

The works sold under our label are original pieces created by individual creators, and we obtain permission and explain the intended use to voice actors before requesting their participation.

We hope to assist in making your creative process more enjoyable through our materials.

New releases will be updated regularly, so please follow us for updates.
