☒MITSUGETSU eight's Philosophy

Aiming to Create Materials that Allow Creators to Concentrate on Creating Works

In recent years, rights-related issues have come under scrutiny.

There have been cases of unintentional infringement of a third party's rights, plagiarism in the material being sold, non-compliance, and so on.

The content handled by creators is an important work that will continue to exist after its release and become "the property of those involved."

We plan and sell materials so that such works can continue to be released with peace of mind after their creation.
