

The Three Shotas and the Big Black Wolf Girl

Written By: Troy168

Artwork Done By: Feminine
(<https://www.pixiv.net/en/users/38105585>)

Willow Lore Studio is proud to present!

FAIRY TALES FROM THE SHORT SIZE!

Today's Featurette:

THE THREE SHOTAS AND THE BIG BLACK WOLF GIRL

Chapter 1

A Messy House Leads to Three Shotas Out of the House

This is a tale that was told as old as time, and the tale has many variations throughout the ages. And what the world of civilization doesn't know is that this tale is going to be told again in the village of Kagi.

The village of Kagi is home to what the world believes to be little young boys. But in actuality, they are a known human species called Shotas.

While Shotas does have the bodies of young boys, they are capable of running the village and maintaining the peaceful feeling of Kagi.

Or at least it would be if it wasn't for the fact that at the house that's near the hill, the sound of crashing is heard from the second floor of the house.

Inside said house lives three young Shotas in a bedroom. While the three young Shotas are brothers, each of the three Shota brothers has their own personality.

"And with his opponent down on the ground, the great and mighty Henry climbs to the top of the tower as he's about to perform his mighty feat. The Powerful Cannon Ball!" Said the energetic Shota.

This yellow shirt and brown pants wearing energetic Shota is named Henry. Henry is often the goofball of the three Shota brothers as he would often crack jokes and pull pranks on his brothers.

With Henry standing on top of the bookshelf, he jumps down and performs a cannonball before proceeding to land on his pillow on the bed that he placed earlier.

"The great and mighty Henry has managed to perform his mighty feat and has put his opponent into a corner!"

“The only thing that you’re doing is putting strains on your bed, Henry.” Said the geeky Shota.

The brown shirt, green pants and glasses wearing geeky Shota is Timmy. He is the most intelligent of the three Shota brothers as he often studies many books throughout his life.

But with Henry’s constant goofing off and joking around, it has brought nothing but trouble for Henry himself and the rest of the Shota brothers.

“Give me a break, Timmy. For all that time that you’ve been studying, you seem to forget about the thing called fun.”

“That’s not true. Fun is usually described as something that you enjoy. And since I like to read books, I describe what I’m doing as fun and proactive. While what you’re doing may look like fun, but it’s more destructive than it is fun. Now, if you look at the times, father yelled at you for-”

Timmy continues to talk as his long speech starts to bore Henry as he lies on his bed. It has gotten to the point where Henry has begun to tune out Timmy’s speech.

To Henry’s defence, it was a fault that Timmy doesn’t notice about himself. Despite having an intelligent mind, he doesn’t have any common sense when it comes to getting his point across.

“You know.... If you keep blabbing on like that, you will end up having your brain popped out of your head with your constant chatter.” Henry said while lying on his bed.

“C-Constant chatter! If you weren’t so focus on your silly jokes and your stupid pranks, father wouldn’t be mad at you!”

“If father’s mad at me, then he would have kicked me out of the house by now. Besides, I’m sure that father is more annoyed with your chatter and annoyance.”

“Annoyance?! I haven’t done anything to annoy-”

“Could you please stop fighting, guys...?” Said the third Shota brother.

Hearing that voice has both Henry and Timmy stop their banter and look over to the source of the voice as they see their third brother. A red shirt and white pants wearing Shota named Frankie.

Frankie's a kind hearted Shota who loves his brothers as family. Even though Henry and Timmy would constantly get into arguments about their personalities, Frankie would be there to halt the fight from happening.

"Can't you blame me, Frankie? Timmy would often blab his mouth to no end." Henry said.

"I'm sure that Timmy must be worried about you, Henry." Frankie said in an attempt to calm the two down.

"I'm more worried that Henry is going to cause more problems for all of us." Timmy said as he focused his mind on his book.

"Oh? If you're worried about me, then allow me to give you a taste of what fun actually is!"

Henry then grabs the pillow on his bed and tosses the pillow at Timmy's head, causing Timmy's glasses to fall and land on the desk that Timmy was using.

"Henry..."

Henry starts chuckling as Timmy puts the book he was reading down.

"Okay.... If you're looking for fun, then I'll give it to you!"

Underneath the Shota Brothers' room, the father of the three Shota brothers is sitting in his lounge chair reading the daily newspaper.

This blue shirt and black pants wearing father is also a Shota like the other Shotas as he is also the father of Henry, Timmy and Frankie.

The Shota father has lived his life working on improving the lifestyle of Kagi for the Shota residents. Nowadays, he's enjoying his life by relaxing on his lounge chair.

Or it would be if it wasn't for the fact that the noises of crashing and shouting that's going on upstairs.

"With Timmy's failed attempt on his lame tackling signature move, the great and mighty Henry to perform his leg lock signature move!"

"Not unless I can prevent your ribs from moving and making your arms' movement limited."

"Please stop fighting, guys!"

Hearing his sons fighting and goofing off is how the Shota father has to deal with while he's relaxing in his own home. Despite being willing to tolerate his sons' goofing off, even he has his limits.

"WILL YOU BOYS QUIET DOWN!!!"

".....sorry father....." Said the three Shota brothers.

"sighs What am I going to do with those sons of mine...."

.....

After the incident with the three Shota brothers, Henry, Timmy and Frankie are sitting in the living room as they see their father in deep thought while wondering what sort of punishment they'll receive.

"W-What do you think father is going to do with us?" Henry whispers.

"I don't know... But I know that it won't be good for all of us." Timmy whispers back.

As they wonder about their fates, their Shota father clears his throat to catch the attention of all three Shota brothers.

"It has come to my attention that all three of you have constantly been messing around in your room on a daily basis."

"Well, father, it's not like-"

“Let me finish, Frankie. What’s become clear to me is that the three of you are becoming too crowded in your own room. After much thought, I’ve come up with a decision.”

“And what is it that you came up with, father?” Timmy asks.

“I’ve decided that the three of you will move out of the house.”

“.....WHAT?!” The Shota brothers shockingly said.

Hearing what their Shota father said has Henry going onto the floor and starts praying for his life.

“Please, father. Don’t kick us out. I know that we all been roughhousing with each other, but that doesn’t mean that we should go live on the streets because of it.”

“Now hold on, Henry. I’m not kicking all of you out because of your goofing off.”

“.....huh?”

“All I’m saying is that I think it’s time that the three of you should go out on your own and have your own lives.”

“Our own lives?” Frankie said

It has never occurred to the three Shota brothers that they would be moving out on their own. They were pretty surprised when the Shota brothers heard their father saying that they had to live their own lives.

“Now, I know that it was quite shocking to hear that you would be moving out, but I promise you that you will be able to enjoy your own life in the village of Kagi.”

“Father. Will we be able to see each other after we move out?”

“Of course, Timmy. Just because the three of you are moving out, that doesn’t mean that you can’t visit each other anymore.”

“Well, if that’s the case, then I’ll make sure to crash at your place, father.” Henry said as he started laughing.

However, Henry's comment has caused Henry to get bopped in the head by his father, which causes Henry to rub his head.

"I didn't mean at my place, you nincompoop!"

"F-Father...."

"Now then. I will keep your stuff here until you can manage to build your own homes."

"You mean we have to build our own homes, father?" Timmy asked.

"That's right. I was at your age when I set out to build my home house that we're living in. I'll give each of you some coins so that you can buy some building materials for your own homes."

Even though they are still shocked about moving out of their own home, Frankie is glad that he can still meet his brothers once he builds his own home.

"If that's what you want, father. Then I'm sure that we can build the best houses that we can."

"Frankie...." Both Timmy and Henry said while surprised about what Frankie said.

Both Henry and Timmy look at each other before looking at Frankie's determined face has caused the two Shota brothers to feel determined about their future.

"Then, in that case, why don't we all go and pack our stuff right now!"

"Yeah. I agree with what Henry said."

"Henry..... Timmy....."

With the Shota brothers' determination set, the three stand up to prepare themselves for the future ahead.

"Let's go, guys!"

“Hold it, my sons!” The Shota father said just as the three Shota brothers were about to move.

This results in the three Shota brothers to fall onto the floor after their motivation was stopped. Even though the Shota father is glad that his sons are getting along, there is something vital that he must tell his sons.

“I want to tell you something that should concern the three of you.”

“There is?” Timmy said

“What is it that we should know, father?” Frankie asks.

“Oh, I get it. You wanted to test us on if we’re willing to work together, and upon seeing that, you’re willing to let us live here again.” Henry said as he started chuckling.

Unfortunately for Henry, his father bopped him in the head again after making that comment.

“That’s not what I wanted to say, you nincompoop!”

“F-Father.....”

“Sigh As much as I don’t want to believe it, there appear to be rumours about a dangerous creature near our village. A dangerous creature I have a feeling all too well....”

“A dangerous creature? Who is this dangerous creature?”

“Big Black Wolf Girl.”

“Big Black Wolf Girl?” The three Shotas said.

“That’s right. She’s a terrifying beast that preys on everyone she sees. If you were to see this terrifying beast, you would make a mistake and think that she’s a human. But make no mistake, she’s a terrifying beast through and through.”

“What makes you say that?” Henry asks.

“Long ago..... Back when I was young, I heard rumours about this dangerous creature appearing and attacking villagers. I didn’t believe it at first. But when my brother came in for a visit, what I saw was quite shocking.”

The three Shota brothers are getting scarred as the Shota father continues his story.

“It looked like he had his clothes torn apart by a terrifying beast. Yet when I look at him, it looks like he was quite satisfied with what has happened to him.”

“What?”

“Why would he get excited over having his clothing torn off?”

“I didn’t know at that time. But when it was night, and I was resting in the living room, I spotted the terrible beast from through the window.”

“You did? What does this terrible beast look like?”

“From what I saw, it was a big beast with an appearance of a wolf. The beast has black fur, and if it weren’t for the body’s long black hair and breasts, I would have never guessed that it was a girl. Hence the name Big Black Wolf Girl.”

Hearing that has caused the three Shota brothers to get scared as the father’s description of the beast appears in the Shota brothers’ minds as they imagine this Big Black Wolf Girl to be some terrifying monster.

“It took my brother a week for him to get back to his senses before I ask him what happened. And from what I heard from my brother, he said that this Big Black Wolf Girl tricked him into letting the creature inside his home.”

“Tricked him? How did this Big Black Wolf Girl trick him?”

“I don’t know, my sons. I didn’t learn much from my brother, but this started when this Big Black Wolf Girl entered his house. After that, he clams up.

So I want you boys to promise me this. If you ever see this Big Black Wolf Girl outside your home, do not let this beast inside your home.”

“Yes, father!” The three Shota brothers said.

.....

With the preparations made for the three Shota brothers, they leave the Shota father’s house after saying goodbye to their father. While the air is fresh and the view of the grassy field is breathtaking, there’s only one thing that’s on the three Shota brothers’ minds right now.

“Do you guys have any ideas on what sort of building materials to use?” Henry asks.

“Building materials? I figure that we should use bricks to build our homes.” Frankie said.

“But would bricks be enough?”

“What are you getting at, Henry?” Timmy said.

“With what father said about this Big Black Wolf Girl beast being around, there’s a good chance that this beast would come after us.”

“That’s true..... If this Big Black Wolf Girl were to attack us while we were building our houses, we could end up in the same situation as our uncle.”

“Then, in that case, we should find ourselves some building materials that we can easily build up and quickly.”

“You sure that’s a good idea, Henry? Wouldn’t it cause the building material to break apart more easily if it was built quickly?”

“Yeah. What Frankie said is also true. We need to find some sturdy building materials if we’re going to keep that Big Black Wolf Girl out.”

The three Shota brothers continue to debate among themselves as they walk past a farm with several haystacks. Just as the Shota brothers walk past the haystacks, Henry stops in his tracks as he spots the haystacks.

“Henry?” Timmy said when he noticed that Henry had stopped walking.

“What’s wrong?” Frankie said as he was worried about Henry.

“Say……. You guys didn’t notice those haystacks earlier, right?”

Confused, both Timmy and Frankie look out at the field and see the haystacks that Henry was pointing at.

“Not really… It was just something the farmer had on the field. So I didn’t think too much about it.” Timmy said.

“And I thought that it was natural. What are you getting at, Henry?” Frankie asks.

Hearing what Timmy and Frankie have to say has caused Henry to smile as if he has been hit with an inspirational idea from above.

“Is that so……. Then, in that case, we should build up our houses with straws!”

What Henry said has caused both Timmy and Frankie to be dumbfounded at what Henry has to say.

“Huh?!” Frankie said.

“Are you out of your mind, Henry?!” Timmy said.

“Nope. The only thing I did was come up with a brilliant plan to fool this Big Black Wolf Girl beast father mentioned.” Henry said with confidence.

“And that is…?”

“You guys looked past those haystacks and never considered that there could be people inside. So my plan for all of us is to make straw houses.”

“But why straws?”

“Because that Big Black Wolf Girl would end up ignoring the straw houses and search somewhere else, leaving us alone as we can live peacefully.”

Both Timmy and Frankie are still shocked over Henry’s idea of using straws as building materials and his bizarre reasoning behind using straws; They didn’t notice that Henry had already climbed over the fence and entered the farmer’s field.

“Where are you going, Henry?!” Timmy said as he was pretty shocked over Henry’s action.

“I’m going to go ask the farmers in seeing if he’ll sell me some of the straws! You guys should come and get some straws!” Henry said as he ran excitedly down the field

“Wait!” Frankie said as he tried to stop Henry.

But despite their best efforts, Henry continues to run down the field to buy some straws for his house.

“Man... I can’t believe that idiot would seriously be considered using straws to build his home.” Timmy said

“Maybe he was trying to make sure we are safe from the Big Black Wolf Girl, Timmy?”

“If Henry thinks that being in straw houses would keep us safe, I would be more worried about the weather and wild animals before I worry about that Big Black Wolf Girl beast.”

Timmy walks off as Frankie wonders if Henry is going to be alright, considering that he has no idea what Henry is saying is true. Frankie then follows Timmy as the two Shota brothers head down the pathway.

.....

Timmy and Frankie continue to walk down the pathway as the two Shota brothers walk through a forest. While the two of them walk, they debate what building materials the two brothers should use.

“You sure that we should be going for bricks to build our homes?” Timmy asks.

“What makes you say that, Timmy?” Frankie asked as he was curious about Timmy’s opinion about using brick.

“Considering how long it’ll take to build up one brick wall, let alone build four brick walls with that Big Black Wolf Girl beast out there, we also have to consider that the concrete needs to be perfect, the weather needs to be perfect to prevent any damages, the wildlife to not disrupt our construction, the layout of what-”

Timmy continues on while listing down everything that could go wrong while building their homes with bricks as Frankie listens to what Timmy says.

While what Timmy said could be true, Frankie figures that a chance of all of the bad things happening at once is low. But Frankie knows that Timmy is quite intelligent from his studies and is concerned for Frankie’s safety. For that reason, Frankie continues to listen to what Timmy is saying.

“-how strong the locks will be to prevent thieves from breaking in, how much space the rooms would be after the furniture is placed, the amount of escape routes we have in case of a fire, and the most important factor of all is how durable our homes is going to be from falling down. Do you understand what I’m saying, Frankie?”

“Pretty much. But do you have any ideas on what building materials you would be using, Timmy?”

“That’s the thing that I worried about the most. I need to find a sturdy building material that fits with all of the details I need to build my own home.”

While the two Shota brothers continued to walk through the path, Timmy stepped on some sticks, which caused them to break underneath his shoe and caused Timmy to stop on his track.

“What’s wrong, Timmy?”

“Oh, it’s nothing. I was just surprised by the-”

But when Timmy checks underneath his foot, he sees that while he stepped on three small sticks, only two out of three sticks broke underneath his shoe.

Seeing that has caused Timmy to have a revelation as he grabs the unbroken stick from the ground.

“That’s it! That’s what we’ll build our houses with!”

“With that small stick? How will that small stick be enough to build our own house?”

“Allow me to explain, Frankie.”

Timmy then heads over to the grassy field as he starts picking up small sticks while Frankie watches as he wonders what Timmy is doing.

“Now, as you have already figured, Frankie, one lone stick is not enough to build our homes. One lone stick can be broken easily, like so.”

Timmy then turns around and shows Frankie the lone stick he picked up earlier before he proceeds to break the stick in half with his hands.

“But if you managed to gather a lot of sticks needed to build your house, you’ll find that they’re much harder to break apart as appose to breaking one lone stick.”

Timmy then grabs a bunch of sticks and shows them to Frankie. He then bundles up the sticks into a group before proceeding to bend the sticks. Though the sticks Timmy has did not break as before, which surprises Frankie.

“Oh. You’re right. It didn’t break apart at all.” Frankie said.

“You see. Now, if we can gather enough sticks for the both of us, we can build us a three-layer stick house, and that alone would be enough to endure that Big Black Wolf Girl beast while keeping us safe.”

“I get what you’re saying, Timmy. But are you sure that it’s a good idea to build our houses with small sticks?”

“Huh?”

Timmy then looks down at the bundle of small sticks he’s holding on to as he realizes that Frankie is thinking that Timmy would be building their houses with tiny sticks. Recognizing that fact has caused Timmy to drop his sticks and feel embarrassed.

“O-Obviously, we’re not going to use these small sticks to build our home. We’ll find a lumber camp and get a large number of large sticks so that we can build our home.”

Henry can see that Timmy is fully set on using sticks to build his home. And although Timmy is quite intelligent, Frankie wonders if a stick house is really a good idea.

With Timmy dropping the small sticks and rejoins Frankie, the two Shota brothers resume their track as they head down the pathway.

“Do you believe that sticks would be enough, Timmy?”

“To be honest, there are some factors that I need to solve once I build my home out of sticks. But I’m quite sure that it’s a whole lot better than using Henry’s idea of making homes out of straws.”

“I get that. It’s just that..... I’m worried about both you and Henry. With the Big Black Wolf Girl beast out there, the building materials that both you and Henry suggested would not be enough to stop this beast.”

The two Shota brothers walk out of the forest as the path splits off in two different routes. Each route leads to two different small towns with the necessary building materials needed.

“I know that you’re worried, Frankie. But I’m quite sure that the house of sticks will be strong enough to keep that Big Black Wolf Girl beast away.”

Timmy then heads down the left pathway as Frankie stands there as he wonders if he should follow Timmy’s plan and grab some sticks for building materials or stick to his plan on using bricks as his building materials.

“I better go and get the building materials needed to build my house. If you want to come with me, Frankie, then I can find the best place where we can find the best sticks.”

With Frankie seeing Timmy off, he starts debating with himself if he should go with bricks as his building material or go with Henry or Timmy’s idea and go with either straws or sticks.

But then he remembers a story where his father managed to build his own home that’s made out of bricks and how that house the three Shota brothers were living in is still standing to this day.

For that reason, Frankie suggested that the three brothers should go with bricks as their building materials. And although both Henry and Timmy decided to go with straws and sticks, Frankie will respect their decision as he will stick with his brick plan.

END OF PREVIEW